Art Photography: Today's Most Powerful Connection to the Outdoors (2 hours)

There is a tradition of artists creating compelling works that draw attention to the beauty of the landscape and, oftentimes, becoming instrumental in the creation and protection of National Parks. New York artist Xiomáro will present a survey of these works as well as his own collections. He will also make the case that photography has never been stronger than today for connecting new and diverse urban audiences with the outdoors.
