

A Gallery By Photographer Xiomáro

September 09, 2013

THE 411

Xiomáro's Site

"The possibility of imminent death reshuffles priorities and the gift of recovery was the chance to start a new life. My family travelled to Utah and I got to do a lot of thinking as I wandered off in Arches National Park with my little point-and-shoot. Afterwards, I realized that I was able to quickly create, exhibit and sell the images from that trip because I was in sole charge of the process."

— Xiomáro