

Blog

Art Life – Impressions

Xiomaro

by John Sunderland

The collection of fascinating photographs by Xiomaro which make up the September exhibition at Life Cafe, Bushwick, have a special quality. A quality which to my mind is what photography is about, they make you want to see, as though through an intelligent eye. Xio sees fractal patterns in nature and the urban commonplace where others may see just a backdrop; as such his photographs stimulate and refresh our view of the world. In fact, they are images which say “wake up brain, look again!”

Posted on September 18th, 2011 by Life Cafe

<http://lifecafe.com/>