"I've never seen a magazine devoted to my community before so, I was eager to contribute. The editor invited input and the staff responded quickly. We should all give our support to a publication that serves the interests of our towns." —Xio, to the left, who you can find on Page 7.

Roosevelt's Mansion on the Hill

President Theodore Roosevelt is an international icon. So a commission from the National Park Service to photograph his Sagamore Hill home was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity especially since the mansion was nearly vacant— a historically rare event. —Xiomaro.

Xio also mentioned about his solo walk through the mansion, "It was a sobering experience to walk alone in the rooms where TR carried the weight of the nation's affairs."

An article written in the New York Times on Xio's visit to Roosevelt's mansion can be found at <http://tinyurl.com/cje2ck8>.

In the article, goes more in detail on the mansion and explains how TR spent most of his time there, as well as mentioning the fact that Roosevelt's beloved home held 23 rooms.
