

Xiomaro Honored by Town for “How I Love Sagamore Hill” Collection

North Hempstead Town Councilman Peter Zuckerman honored renowned photographer Xiomaro for his wonderful contributions to the field of photography.

North Hempstead Town Councilman Peter Zuckerman honored renowned photographer and Roslyn Heights resident Xiomaro on August 12th, for his wonderful contributions to the field of photography, including his beautiful photo series titled “How I Love Sagamore Hill” which features unique photos of President Theodore Roosevelt’s home.

Xiomaro has photographed a number of historical landmarks on Long Island and expressed interest in working on a series on the grounds of Cedarmere in North Hempstead, once renovations have been completed. Some of Xiomaro’s remarkable work was on display in the board room while he was honored.
